Park Admissions Fee Bill Signed

Cave-in-Rock One of Free Parks; Double State Aid to Junior Colleges

SPRINGFIELD (U) — Gov. William G. Stratton today signed into law a new state park admission fees bill and a measure doubling the state aid to junior colleges.

The junior college bill will provide $200 per pupil per year in state aid funds to the various junior colleges, or a total of $4,300,000 for 1957-58. It doubles the old $100 per pupil rate.

The state parks bill translates into law the recommendations of a study commission, and is effective next April. It establishes an annual $2 fee for admission to each state park of more than 100 acres. The license will be in the form of an auto window sticker, and will cover a car and its occupants.

For persons who do not wish to buy the annual license, a fee of 10 cents per person and 10 cents for the automobile will be charged on a day to day basis.

Conservation officials said the measure is expected to bring about $300,000 per year for additional state park improvements. Under the new law admission will be free only at Buffalo Rock, Cave-in-Rock, Channahon Parkway, Ft. Chartres, Ft. Creve Coeur, Fox River, Gebhard Woods, Lincoln Log Cabin, Lincoln Trail and Prophetstown state parks. Another law prevents admission fees at New Salem State Park.

Stratton, among scores of other bills, also approved the measure including parkland in the list of fireworks prohibited for general use in Illinois. It was not signed before July 4, and consequently this past Independence Day was the last the parkland could legally sparkle.

Other news laws resulting from Stratton's approval of bills passed by the 1957 Legislature will: Revamp the state military code for the first time since 1909.

Prohibit school buses, after discharging a pupil, from proceeding until the child has reached a safe place.

Tighten the state mental health code.

Set retirement pay for state police at half a policeman's average final salary.

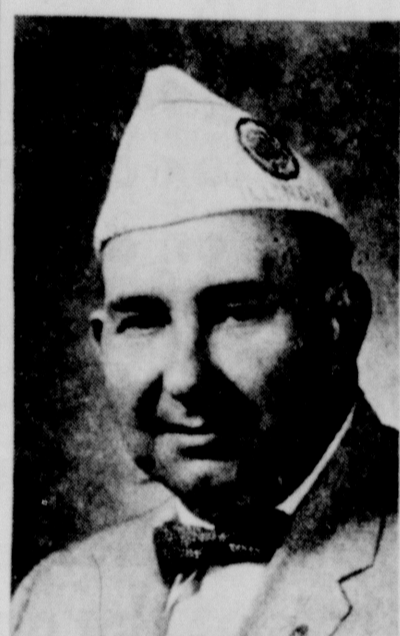

Exempt highway maintenance employees from state civil service.

Permit local school districts to rent facilities for not more than 20 years for school use.

Provide that in aldermanic elections when a candidate receives at least 40 per cent of the registered votes in a ward he shall be elected.

Create a commission to study possible new legislation regulating

Attempt to Block Expansion

Angry Japanese Mob Smashes Through Fence at U. S. Air Base

TOKYO (UP)—A mob of angry demonstrators attempting to block expansion of the Tachikawa U. S. Air Force Base smashed through a barbed wire fence surrounding the field today and forced American authorities to cancel flights for more than six hours.

The mob of about 1,000 persons—most of them students—suddenly withdrew when 1,600 Japanese police rushed to the scene and threatened to eject them by force. A Japanese government survey team planning extension of runways at the giant air field completed their work and returned to Tokyo a few minutes before the demonstrators crashed through the fence.

Crowds Arrive Early
Crowds protesting plans to annex private land adjoining the U. S. base began arriving here Sunday. They set up tents, set off strings of firecrackers and chanted anti-American slogans through out the night.

Youths stuck long bamboo poles in the mud at the end of the runways, causing U. S. authorities to reroute incoming military planes to other fields. They threw rocks at U. S. Air Force planes on the ground and set fire to gasoline which they poured on one runway.

The mob slowly backed off the field when Japanese police arrived on the scene and told them to go home.

Police Injured
Three policemen were injured by flying stones, but there were no casualties among the demonstrators.

Suddenly four big transports roared in for landings, swooping so low their propellers nearly hit the barricade of bamboo poles. Demonstrators and police, who had been facing each other grimly, ducked low as the big planes roared onto the field.

Police in blue and khaki uniforms piled into trucks and armored cars to return home when it appeared the tension was broken. The demonstrators cheered, uprooted the bamboo poles, dismantled their tents, pulled down their banners, and marched off singing, arms linked.

Irvin Loses Reprieve Plea

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (U) — "Mad dog" killer Leslie Irvin's bid for a fourth stay of execution was turned down today by Federal Judge W. Lynn Parkinson.

The refusal came 16 hours before the accused killer of six persons was due to die in the Indiana State Prison electric chair.

Irvin, 33, a former Evansville pipefitter, lost his appeal for a reprieve on the grounds he was tried unfairly at Princeton 19 months ago in one of six murders committed in Indiana and Kentucky over a four-month period in 1954 and 1955.

The Parkinson ruling apparently paved the way for Irvin to walk to his death from "death row" in the Michigan City institution at 1:01 a. m. c. d. t. Tuesday.

Death Takes John L. Hart, 41; Rites Wednesday

John Lewis Hart, 41, of 120 West Raymond street, Harrisburg, died at Doctors' hospital in Carbondale, at 11 p. m. Sunday. V. and Ruby Deal Hart; his children, John Hart Jr., Mona Ray and Connie May Hart, of Pontiac, Mich.; brothers, James Hart and Julian Hart of Chicago and Jerome Paul Hart of Carbondale; and sisters, Pauline Hart and Mrs. La Verne Gullledge of Harrisburg and Mrs. Eulah Halama and Mrs. Betty Nichol of Chicago.

One brother and one sister preceded him in death.

First Meeting in 6 Years

Ingrid Bergman Has Reunion with Her Daughter at Airport in Paris

PARIS (UP)—Ingrid Bergman had the first reunion with her 18-year-old daughter, Jenny Ann Lindstrom, in a happy and confused scene at Le Bourget Airport today.

Jenny Ann is Ingrid's daughter by her former marriage to Dr. Peter Lindstrom, a brain surgeon whom the famous actress gave up to marry Italian movie producer Roberto Rossellini.

Today's was the first meeting between mother and daughter in six years, and only the second between them since Ingrid gave up home and family in 1949 for her tempestuous romance with Rossellini.

Ingrid flew here from Rome for the reunion and Jenny Ann flew in from Stockholm, where she had gone during the week end with her father.

Jenny and her beautiful actress mother were able to have 10 minutes together in the privacy of the plane after it landed.

Then they emerged smiling, only to be mobbed by photographers.

Miss Bergman flew here from a hurried trip to Rome where her 5-year-old daughter, Isabella, underwent an emergency appendicitis operation. Isabella and Isotta are twin daughters by Rossellini.

Rossellini himself is expected to return soon from India for a reunion with Ingrid and it was believed Jenny Ann would meet him in Rome. Ingrid has denied reports of a rift with her husband over his alleged affair in Bombay with the wife of an Indian movie official.

Friends said Miss Bergman plans to keep Jenny with her most of the summer and take her to the Rossellini villa at Santa Marinella, just 30 miles north of Rome.

There Jenny will meet 7-year-old Roberto Rossellini and the twin girls.

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Widow of Ex-President, Dies In Her Sleep

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (U) — Plymouth, Vt., near the Coolidge home in which the late President took the oath of office from his father. He succeeded to the presidency on the death of Warren G. Harding in 1923 and was elected in his own right the following year.

In a classic declaration of office he announced that he did not "choose to run" in 1928.

Mrs. Coolidge was a civic minded housewife throughout her life, active in church affairs, and a gracious hostess who took no other part in her husband's public life.

Mrs. Coolidge died in her sleep. Her son, John, was at her bedside. Dr. James H. Averill said death was caused by a heart condition but that an autopsy will be performed. Mrs. Coolidge's regular physician, Dr. Hugh Tatlock, was on vacation.

Grace Goodhue was graduated from the University of Vermont in 1902 and came here to teach in a school for the deaf and dumb. In Northampton she met fellow Vermonter Calvin Coolidge, then a struggling young lawyer, and married him in 1905.

Civic Minded Housewife
Mrs. Coolidge, a slim, white-haired, straight-backed lady, was a model descendant of her New England Puritan ancestors. Her gracious warmth took the edge off the chill public portrait of the taciturn President during their years in Washington. It was undiminished by the tragedy which struck the family in the White House—the death of their younger son, Calvin Jr., 16, of blood poisoning from a tennis game blister.

The son and his father, who died in 1933, four years after he left the White House, are buried at separately for their lunch programs. But the parochial schools refused to participate on grounds that such a separate fund might come under constitutional attack and create ill will.

Stratton noted in a brief veto message that "since 1955 there has been a policy of making the general (school aid) fund include all state monies to be devoted to the school lunch program, permitting the question of use of the funds for school lunches and for other purposes to local determination."

The four-million-dollar item consequently would duplicate other school aid appropriations, he said. Stratton also vetoed a bill to provide a three-week "school" for new legislators at the Capitol at the beginning of each legislative session.

He plans to contact immigration authorities today.

Gov. Stratton Vetoes Appropriation for Private, Parochial School Lunch Program

SPRINGFIELD (U) — Gov. William G. Stratton today killed a four-million-dollar appropriation aimed at bringing private and parochial schools back into the state school lunch program.

The governor vetoed a lone item in an appropriation bill for the office of the superintendent of public instruction, providing the funds for a separate school lunch program.

The Legislature in 1955 in effect killed the state school lunch program for private and parochial schools when it lumped several appropriations for school aid in one fund, rather than continuing a separate school lunch appropriation.

The measure permitted local school boards to use the money as they saw fit, either to supplement local funds for school lunches, or for other purposes. Another measure was prepared to grant state aid to private and parochial schools campaigning before their constituents and have won election on the basis of their general knowledge of the functions and problems of government," the governor said.

Therefore, he said, "it would not appear to be urgent or necessary that they receive formal instruction" in law making.

Vetoed earlier was a bill sponsored by Rep. Leo Pfeffer (D-Seymour) aimed at abolishing "speed traps." It would have required warning signs posted at least 400 feet ahead of radar speed checks, and speed zones.

Such a law, Stratton said, would be "inconsistent" with the need to control traffic as a safety measure and with the state's new rigid speed limits.

Saturday Stratton vetoed a bill

Springerton Youth Killed

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in Springerton for William E. Martin, 18-year-old Springerton youth, who was killed in an automobile accident at 12:20 a. m. Sunday. The accident occurred near Cynthiana, Ind.

There were five passengers in the automobile and the other four—Clyde Push, 18, Pifer Files, 18, and Kendall Carter, 16, all of Springerton and Alan Fox, 17, Godfrey—suffered injuries and were taken to Deaconess hospital, Evansville, for treatment.

Martin was a 1957 graduate of the Enfield high school and attended the Methodist church in Springerton.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Avenelle Martin, a brother and two sisters.

Police investigating the accident reported the speeding automobile failed to make a curve and crashed into a guard rail.

Mrs. Paul Hilliard Struck by Motorcycle

Mrs. Paul Hilliard, 618 O'Garra street, Harrisburg, has suffered a broken small bone in her leg just above the ankle. The report is that she stepped from her car, stopped in front of the Frailey beauty shop on Granger street, into the path of a motorcycle, shortly after noon on Saturday.

Mrs. Hilliard is at the Harrisburg hospital, and the rider of the motorcycle was not charged by the police.

Survey Shows 418 Auto Deaths During Holiday

Other Causes
Increase Overall
Total to 712 Dead

By United Press

The National Safety Council today took a look at the number of traffic deaths during the July 4th holiday period and said that motorists and law enforcement agencies had done well.

"The 4th of July toll not only was held far below the pre-holiday estimate of 535 but below the 465 that a non-holiday period of the same number of hours would be expected to bring," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council.

With only scattered accident reports still to be counted, a United Press survey showed that between 6 p. m. Wednesday and midnight Sunday, 418 persons died in highway accidents. Drawings took 206 lives, fireworks accidents 3, plane crashes 16 and miscellaneous mishaps 69, for an overall total of 712.

California had more than one-tenth of the holiday deaths, with 47. New York had 32, Pennsylvania 29, Ohio 28, Texas 24, Michigan 19, Missouri 18, and Illinois 16.

Big Pat on Back

The deaths in the period of a little more than 3 days were more than those suffered by American forces in some of the battles which helped win the independence that Americans were celebrating. But, comparatively, the figure encouraged the council and law enforcement agencies who have been trying to stem the holiday surge in the annual toll of deaths.

"Motorists and traffic offenders," said Dearborn, "deserve a big pat on the back for a splendid job of effective teamwork. Such an achievement cannot help but make things safer on the highways the year around."

In 1950, the all-time high for the 4th of July holiday was set at 501. Thus far in 1957, motorists on two successive holidays, this one and Memorial Day, have been below estimates.

"Drivers and traffic enforcement agencies now have demonstrated on two successive holidays that extra traffic volume and danger can be offset by extra care and effort," said Dearborn.

Three states, Nevada, Rhode Island and Delaware, recorded no traffic deaths for the holiday. Two fiery auto collisions Sunday killed a total of 16 persons and left another injured critically.

Illinois Toll Of 16 Dead is Above Estimate

By United Press

Illinois motorists killed each other at a higher rate than estimated during the long Fourth of July weekend.

A United Press count showed at least 16 persons killed during the four-day holiday on state roads and highways. The Chicago Motor Club had estimated 14 traffic deaths in Illinois.

Six of the highway victims were youngsters from 6 to 18 years of age, including Babette Barker, 10, Chicago, who was with a crowd of mourners at a funeral Friday when a car plunged out of control and rammed a church. The girl was pinned between the car and the church wall.

Jo Anne Steele, 6, was killed Thursday when a car hit her in Waukegan as she was crossing the street with her 9-year-old twin sisters.

James Cernekee, 9, was killed in Chicago Sunday when he darted in front of a car. The driver of the car was charged with reckless homicide.

Karen J. Berg, 14, Woodstock, was killed on Ill. 120 near her home town Thursday by a car which struck her bicycle.

Patricia O'Toole, 18, Chicago, was killed when the car in which she was a passenger struck a viaduct at 75th and Racine Thursday.

Ruth Sourbeer, 18, Chicago, was killed in Cicero Saturday when her auto collided with a bus.

Governors Guess

Editorial—By Bruce Blossat
Traditionally, the extracurricular doings at the annual governors' conference are always more important than the items on the agenda.
And the extracurricular doings are always politics.

We are only half a year into President Eisenhower's second term, yet the talk at the recent Williamsburg, Va., meeting centered on 1960 presidential speculation.

There wasn't so much on the Republican side. Gov. Goodwin J.
Knight of California said he wasn't going to run for either the presidency or the Senate (in 1958).
Thus he indicated he would have another go at the governorship, whether or not retiring Sen. William F. Knowland enters the field.

Obviously such a race, if it actually came to pass, would have a substantial bearing on Knowland's prospects for the GOP nomination and on the future condition of the Republican party in California, second biggest state in the land.

The guessing was a bit livelier among the Democrats. One member of Congress, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, appeared to find favor with a good many governors, particularly from southern states.

Inevitably a lot of the governors in attendance heard their names bruiied about, and a few of them gave the ball an extra swat themselves.

Those which cropped up most often were Govs. Robert Meyner of New Jersey, George Leader of Pennsylvania, Frank Clement of Tennessee and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

By the time-honored political test of acceptability—willingness of all segments of a party to take a candidate—two of these four probably will have tough sledding.

Clement appears to have little standing with northern Democrats.
Williams, heavily identified with CIO leaders in Michigan, may well prove unacceptable not only to the South but in wide areas of the North.

Meyner clearly would be a man to be reckoned with should he win smashing re-election this fall. Leader, a less positive type, can't run for re-election in 1958 and would have to capture a Senate seat to stay in the limelight.

Anyway, it's good to know that the boys are busy practicing the art they know so well—figuring the main chance.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

TO ALL

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

Sooner or Later You Are Going to Trade Your Present Car on a New One

GOVERNOR WILLIAM G. STRATTON

Has already vetoed a bill for you to continue to receive a 3% tax credit on your used car when you trade it in on a new one. In other words he wants you to pay a 3% tax on the total selling price of the car. We now collect 3% on the cash difference between your used car and the new car that you purchase. In short 'The Governor' apparently is of the opinion that the buyer of a new car can just keep on paying -- The Governor probably hasn't bought one himself since early in 1953 and doesn't realize that a new car today is pretty expensive -- let alone an additional 3% tax charge on the car you trade.

A NEW TRADE-IN TAX EXEMPTION BILL..
House Bill No. 1127 has already passed the House and is now pending before the Senate.
We think that the Senate will pass this bill, but we have reasons to believe that Stratton will veto it. We dealers think it unfair to ask you to pay a tax on a car you own and on which you have already paid an Illinois state tax.

So please write the GOVERNOR NOT to veto
House Bill No. 1127.

Miss Mary Kell Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Walker of Benton and Robert Morris Doty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Doty, were married in the First Methodist church of Benton on June 15 at eight o'clock in the evening.

'Washerwoman' Apt to Be Hubby

CHICAGO — (UP) — More men are doing the family wash than ever before and, what's more, they are volunteering for the chore.

A survey by an appliance firm (Easy Laundry Appliances) also indicates the men are even "boasting about their prowess."

Behind the trend, the firm said, was the attraction gadgets have for men.

Wives aren't forcing husbands to make like a "washerwoman," the survey indicated. The men folk are merely intrigued by automatic washers, dryers and combinations.

"Men love push button control and the dial panels appeal to them because they're so much like the controls and dashboard of their car," company president Parker H. Erickson said.

Men react at the washing machine "just as they do in driving—masterful and delighted with their sense of mastery and absolute control," he added.

There's also gloom on the horizon for men who regard themselves as rugged individualists.

If other appliances became as totally automatic as the home laundry, men may well become as prideful of their mastery of the kitchen front as they are of their ability on the highway, the report said.

Reorganization of Ag Extension Service In Illinois Completed

By WARREN STROTHER, United Press Staff Correspondent

The reorganization of the agricultural extension service in Illinois has just about been completed with the appropriation of the necessary funds by the 70th General Assembly.

The revamping of the service began after Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson ordered a separation of the extension service, partly supported by federal funds from the state Farm Bureaus. The local Farm and Home Bureaus had contributed part of the salaries of the farm and home extension agents, and sponsored the county programs.

But since Benson's order, local county agricultural extension councils have been organized in each county to sponsor farm extension work, replacing the sponsorship of Farm Bureaus. The old system of Farm Bureau sponsorship had been in effect for some 70 years.

Farm and Home Bureau contributors were switched from local county agricultural and home extension agents to the University of Illinois, which administers the extension service.

Under the reorganized system in the last two years the Farm and Home Bureaus contributed about $2,400,000 for the extension work, including about $245,000 from the Home Bureaus.

The state's appropriation for the agricultural extension work for the 1955-57 biennium was about $2,000,000, including $200,000 from the agricultural premium fund. The federal government's share was about $1,400,000.

After the reorganization of the extension service the Illinois Agricultural Association's Farm Bureaus have agreed to provide a minimum of $1,600,000 for the agricultural extension work, based on $4 for each Farm Bureau member. The Home Bureaus have dropped their contributions entirely.

The state's share has been increased to about two million dollars, with a direct $1,075,000 appropriation for the extension work in addition to University of Illinois funds earmarked for the extension service.

With less direct control of the work of the county farm and home extension program, the association felt it desirable to reduce its financial support.

As one Farm Bureau spokesman put it, "We now have no control over the extension service, except that which would result from our organization making a gift or contribution."

The extension councils which replaced the Farm and Home Bureaus as the sponsors of the extension service in each county are appointed by the county boards, and may include representatives of any farm or business group.

CCC Investment In Farm Supports Total $7.6 Billion

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government's investment in price supported farm commodities on May 31 totaled $7,645,075,000—the lowest in the last 20 months.

Marriage Failure Factors Listed

LOS ANGELES — (UP) — Three University of California researchers believe they have discovered eight distinct and possibly universal factors that may make a person unfit for marriage.

The factors are: low self-opinion, adolescence "hangover," early conditioning to marriage, cumulative ego strain, homosexual tendency or male passivity, sex dissatisfaction and projection, revolt against femininity and flight into rejection.

The researchers, Ahmed El Seoussi and Dr. Andrew L. Comrey, both psychologists, and Dr. Jacob S. Druckman, a psychiatrist, explained adolescence "hangover" as bringing adolescent instability into marriage.

Sex dissatisfaction and projection were explained by those who blame the own sexual failure on their mate. And "flight into rejection" seems to be those cases of people who reject their husbands and wives because they themselves are rejected.

In 1941, Congress specified that Thanksgiving Day annually fall on the fourth Thursday of November.

California Team First to Complete Powder Puff Derby

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Mrs. Patricia Gladney, Los Altos, Calif., and co-pilot Margaret Standish, Burbank, Calif., landed at the North Philadelphia Airport Sunday, the first women fliers to complete the transcontinental Powder Puff Derby.

The team of Mrs. Velma Woodward, Oklahoma City, Okla., and Mrs. Boneta Davis, Minco, Okla., finished second followed by Mrs. Betty Lambert, San Diego, Calif., one of the few solo entries.

The fourth plane to finish was piloted by Mrs. Lois Cassidy, Chicago, with Mrs. Beatrice Siemon, Wayne, Ill., as co-pilot. They landed 2 hours and 17 minutes after Mrs. Gladney's plane.

Forty-nine planes, competing for a total purse of $2,500, started Saturday morning at San Mateo, Calif., in the 2,567 cross-country air race which resumed today at sunrise.

The early finish by Mrs. Gladney and Miss Standish, both Wasp pilots during World War II, did not guarantee them first place in the all-woman handicap flight. The winners will be announced Thursday on the basis of hours in flight, fuel consumption and general performance.

Dining Car Waiter Critically Injured In Fall from Train

AURORA, Ill. (UP) — A dining car waiter was in critical condition today as a result of a fall from a speeding passenger train near here.

Kane County officials investigated after they found Herbert D. Smith, 30, along the Chicago and Great Northern tracks at Dugan's Corner, west of here.

Co-workers on the railroad said Smith reported late for his St. Paul-Chicago run and was ordered out of the dining car.

Motorists on U. S. 30 Sunday saw a white-clad individual fall from the C&GN's "Empire Builder," and reported to the sheriff.

An ambulance was sent to pick up Smith, who suffered a possible skull fracture.

THE STORY: Dr. Garde Shelton has just learned that Valley Stanfield had an important part in bringing about a fight between Dr. Kurt Lillard and Ben Laurent the night before Ben was killed. Kurt was convicted of Ben's murder, but many people believe he was innocent.

XVII

NAN bent over double at the waist to read what was printed on the bag. Still in this position she glanced around at Garde. "You know, don't you, that your only reward for all this hard labor will be to watch Valley's smugness at her horticultural triumph."

"Oh, yes," Garde agreed, "she'll be unbearable."

Nan laughed with delight at his matter of fact tone. "Why do you do it?"

"Oh," he said slowly, "I have a feeling against all loss and destruction."

She went over to sit on the steps behind him. The pleated skirt she wore spread out around her knees like a pale green fan. "That seems a proper sort of feeling," she decided, "for a medical man."

He bent again to his task and after a bit said casually—so casually, that even to Nan, it seemed that he spoke his thoughts aloud. "I feel you know," he said, pausing between every word to jab his short trowel into the dirt, "very much the same about young Lillard. There's been a terrific waste there if that man didn't kill the Laurent boy."

"He didn't," said Nan's clear voice behind him.

Garde glanced at her over his bare shoulder which glistened a little in the dusk.

"There's something odd about the whole affair," Garde told her. "Looking at the story as a newcomer here in town—I can't put my finger on it. You know, a soft spot in the progression of things. I find myself using the word 'incredible' each time the subject comes up for discussion."

"I too can't understand why things have gone—as they have. I often wish Ben were around so that . . ."

"Well, yes," said Garde dryly, "that would solve a great many things."

"I meant his interest in psychological things. It was a hobby of his. He read widely on the subject and talked a lot about it. He was always explaining things by it. Why Mable Ross had twins when she was 46, why I always consider the flavors of ice cream, and then always chose chocolate . . ."

Garde slipped his arms into his shirt and went over to sit on the step below Nan.

Nan talked on with absorption. "Ben analyzed everything. Once he told me why people liked me. He said probably that no one would ever love me with great passion, but that I'd always be liked."

Garde snorted. "How old was Ben?"

"When he said that? Oh—18, I think. Once he made Valley perfectly furious—"

"Explaining what?"

"I don't know. But he talked to her enough about something to send her growling around the house muttering things about amateur psychiatrists. He was older then—that was just before . . ." She leaned toward him, her eyes puzzled. "Why," she said in a numb tone, "that was just before—he was killed."

Garde sat thoughtfully, the bowl of his little pipe glowing and fading rhythmically. Having given her time to recover, he said, speaking slowly, "People frequently mention this tragic affair to me, and I've drawn the conclusion that Ben generally was considered a screwball."

"Oh, he was," she agreed quickly. "I knew him quite well. Maybe better than anyone. We were about the same age, you know. His parents had spoiled him terribly. When we were both 12 I went to their house one day and found his mother and the cook canning beans, and Mrs. Laurent told me that they had to can 365 quarts of green beans each year because Ben wanted beans for dinner every day. I remembered saying I wanted a lot of things I didn't get, and she just smiled and said Ben was different."

So, thought Garde, were his parents different, and the house in which they lived. Mrs. Laurent, Garde knew, had a developing Parkinson syndrome, and their house sat behind thick hedges, with Scotch pines towering dark about its tortured arrangements of dark wood and diamond-paned windows. "Sometimes I thought Ben took perverse delight in being different," Nan continued. "He talked in a wild way, and certainly looked different from the other boys in town. He was crazy about pop music, and his parents let him install any sort of hi-fi equipment he wanted. I haven't been to their house recently, but there used to be a perfect maze of wires and stuff."

"I remember another time. He disappeared, and finally he was found in the country sleeping in a hay mow. He said he wanted to get back to his farming ancestors. The story went around town that the farmer offered him a pitchfork to get him still farther back, but that sounds like one of Dewey Windsor's tales."

It did, and Garde chuckled. He reached for his tobacco pouch and said, "Such people, Nan, are some times dangerous."

"Oh, Ben wasn't!"

Garde refilled his pipe and lit it. In the light of the match, Nan studied his expression. "You don't believe me?"

"Afraid not. I'd be readier to believe that whoever killed him did so in self-defense."

The first half of the 1957 major league season now is history, and it will take one of the greatest second-half drives in history to catch either the Yankees or Cardinals at the breakneck clip they are traveling now.

Both the Yanks and Cards are 2 1/2 games ahead in their respective pennant races today as all the teams pause for the annual All-Star break.

The Yankees are whizzing along at a phenomenal .846 pace with 22 victories in their last 26 games. And the Cardinals are zipping along at a .722 figure with 26 out of their last 36, a pace that finally has begun to unravel what was one of the tightest National League races ever.

The world champion Yankees made it four in a row Sunday when they came from behind to defeat Washington, 7-5, while St. Louis swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati, winning the opener, 3-2 in 10 innings and the nightcap, 9-6. In other American League games, the White Sox swept a pair from the Indians, taking the 13-inning opener, 9-8, and the second game, 7-2. Detroit topped Kansas City, 5-2, and Baltimore beat Boston, 8-4.

Dodgers Dumped Twice

Philadelphia took both ends of a double-header from Brooklyn, 2-1 and 5-3, to move back into the first division in the National League; the Pirates beat the Giants twice, 10-6 and 8-1, and Milwaukee defeated Chicago, 4-2.

Joe Cunningham drove in all three Cardinal runs in the opener, hitting a two-run homer in the first inning and then singling home the winning run in the 10th. Sam Jones was the winner in relief of bonus rookie Von McDaniel, who gave up both Cincinnati runs in the seven innings he worked. Rookie Bobby Gene Smith drove in four runs in the nightcap and Wally Moon threw as Wilmer Mizell won in relief. Ed Bouchee's ninth-inning homer off Sal Maglie gave the Phils their opening game victory over Brooklyn and ex - Dodger Chico Fernandez decided the nightcap with a three-run double that broke a 2-2 tie in the sixth.

Frank Thomas and Dick Groat combined talents to lead the Pirates to their sweep over the Giants. Giants hit three homers in the twin bill to drive in five runs while Groat drove in six runs with a homer in each game and a bases-loaded triple in the finale.

Lew Burdette of the Braves when he held the Cubs to six hits, won his first game since May 18. The Braves got to Cub starter Dave Hillman for three runs in the first inning on a walk, Hank Aaron's single and triples by Wes Covington and Frank Torre.

Russia Joins in Tribute to Cornell's Big Red Crew

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England AP — Even hard-to-impress Russia joined in the mass tribute to triumphant Cornell University today, hailing the Big Red's eight-oared crew as the finest one in the world.

Cornell's oarsmen defeated the Russians in the semifinals and then went on to beat Yale's Olympic champions by half a length Saturday in the first all-American final in the history of the Grand Challenge Cup, traditional feature of the Henley Regatta.

The victory for the undefeated Cornell crew over Yale avenged a defeat at the hands of the Eli in the 1956 Olympic trials. Princeton's 150-pound oarsmen successfully defended the Thames Challenge Cup with a victory over an English lightweight crew to give the U. S. a sweep of the two key races in the regatta.

The Russians, who impressed experts with their brilliant rowing in the 1956 Olympic games at Australia, presented a crimson pennant adorned with yellow tassels to the Cornell captain, Clayton Chapman.

An inscription on one side of the pennant read:

"From Soviet Sportsmen, 1957."

VFW Loses to Lexington, Ky., And Cisne Oilers

The Harrisburg VFW baseball team lost a pair of tough games over the weekend. Saturday one of the best semi-pro teams in the Midwest came to town and the fans were treated to a very good game for 6 innings as the game was tied 4-4, but in the 7th the visitors from Lexington, Ky., broke the game open with a big 5-run inning. Sunday the VFW lost its third Oil Belt League game of the season as it dropped a 9-8 game to the Cisne Oilers. The locals now have a season record of 11-7 and a league record of 5-3.

pitcher and he was ahead of most of the local batters. He allowed a total of only 6 hits and 3 of those came in the first inning when the locals bunched 3 hits, a walk and an error to score 3 times. Bob Dallas led the local attack with 2 hits and Stout, Griffiths, Romonosky and Sisky came through with single hits. Freddie Williams, a former local player, led the strong Kentucky team with 2 long line drive hits.

Sunday the Cisne team started off with a bang and quickly built up an 8-2 lead but then Dick Romonosky took over the local pitching job and he cut out the Cisne hitting and the local hitters came to life and battled all the game but fell one short as the game ended 9-8. Ray Sisky and James Fay had two hits each to lead the stick men in this game and Dallas, Wallace, Odle, Hill, Romonosky, Smith and Stout had single hits.

Next Sunday VFW travels to Mt. Carmel.

Critically Wounds Wife, Kills Self Near Effingham

EFFINGHAM, ILL. (UP)—A disabled World War II veteran shot and critically wounded his wife with a shotgun and then killed himself near a country graveyard Sunday.

Police found Charles Haslett, 36, in his car about 10 miles from where he forced his wife, Margaret, 33, off the road and pumped two shotgun charges into her arm and stomach.

Mrs. Haslett's son by a previous marriage, Danny Joe Bell, 4, was riding with Mrs. Haslett but was not injured.

Mrs. Haslett was pronounced in "very critical condition" at St. Anthony's memorial hospital here.

Police said Mrs. Haslett told earlier of week-long threats by her husband who, she said, was on a "drunken rampage all week."

They had sought him since last Monday.

Authorities said Mrs. Haslett was pregnant.

Haslett lost a leg in World War II. He had been employed as an auto mechanic in Beecher City.

Veto Funds for Private, Parochial School Lunches

prohibiting sale of automobiles on Sundays.

Former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson vetoed a similar bill in 1951, and the Legislature defeated such a measure in 1955. Stratton said the bill violated the constitutional requirement that "no special law" may be passed when general law may apply.

"It is my opinion that it is not a proper function of the state to prescribe that a class of citizens shall not engage in a particular occupation on a day of the week, absent a clear showing that the health and welfare of the population is vitally involved. No such showing has been made here," he said.

Stratton Saturday signed into law more than 100 bills for the second day in a row, including measures creating a number of study commissions.

The two largest are the Illinois-Indiana bistate development and study commission and the north-eastern Illinois metropolitan area local government survey commission. Each was allocated $50,000.

Other commissions approved will study county government problems and promote a Mississippi Valley parkway.

Other measures signed into law will:

Set aside the second Sunday in October as Grandmothers Day.

Appropriate $17,500 to Harold Miller, Chicago, for wrongful imprisonment on a rape charge.

Tighten the financial responsibility of both parents for illegitimate children.

Permit cities and villages to levy a tax for public health purposes. Another bill will give counties the same authority.

Empower cities to regulate and license airports designed for helicopters (heliports), and increase their authority to regulate conventional airports when in their urban limits.

Require annual reports to the governor by the state auditor.

Tighten requirements for school bus signal devices.

Allow chiropractors and dentists to take part in various medical service plans.

Permit railroad engines to be equipped with horns instead of bells.

Authorize justices of the peace and police magistrates to collect $5 in advance of each case hearing instead of $3.

Stratton vetoed a measure which would have required resuscitator equipment and qualified operators in all general hospitals. Public health standards already required "are sufficient to cover emergencies which hospitals encounter," the governor said.

Elder Pate Asks Court Division Of His Farm

CARBONDALE, ILL. (UP)—Daniel Pate, father of turncoat GI Arlie Pate who returned home from Red China shortly before last Christmas, today filed suit to have his farm divided equally between his wife and himself.

The elder Pate's wife, Zady Ann, plans divorce action against him. Pate said his wife's attorney advised him of the pending divorce action but that his wife and Arlie have refused to talk to him.

"I'm too sick to work the farm," Pate said when he filed the suit here.

Arlie, who embraced communism and went to Red China while a prisoner of the Korean War, and a younger brother, Donald, left their farm home earlier this year after an argument with their father over the price of livestock.

Soon afterward, Mrs. Pate and two other children left the farm.

Pate said his wife and Arlie now are at the home of a daughter in Carondelet.

Pate plans to leave the farm when it is sold. "I don't know where I'll go," he said.

The suit also asks that if equal division of the farm is impossible that a price be set for prospective buyers, the money from a sale presumably to be split between Pate and his wife.

Signs Measure for Historical Museum Of Home at Cairo

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Gov. William G. Stratton today signed into law a bill authorizing the state historical library to accept and convert into a museum the Rendleman House at Cairo.

The Rendleman House was offered to the state on condition that it be used as a museum to portray the history of the Mississippi River and its tributaries.

The bill appropriates $48,000 to the state library for expenses involved in establishing the museum.

The bill was sponsored by Rep. Clyde L. Choate (D-Anna).

Choate said the riverfront Rendleman House would be the first museum in the nation devoted to the history of a river and its tributaries.

Leopold to Seek Commutation of Prison Sentence

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — Nathan Leopold, 52, imprisoned for the 1924 thrill slaying of little Bobby Franks, will seek commutation of his sentence Tuesday before the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board.

Leopold, described as a model prisoner at Stateville Penitentiary, has several good job offers awaiting him if Gov. William G. Stratton commutes his 85-year sentence.

Leopold and his partner in crime, Richard Loeb, were sons of wealthy families and brilliant students at the University of Chicago. Loeb was killed several years ago in a prison fight.

Senate Opens Debate on Civil Rights Measure

By United Press

The Senate opened a historic debate on the civil rights bill today, and all signs pointed to a summer-long struggle that would sidetrack much of President Eisenhower's legislative program.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) predicted that southern Democrats would win enough allies to make some changes in the administration's civil rights proposals. He declined to specify what changes he expected.

Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) predicted the debate, including an expected southern filibuster will take "six weeks, maybe longer." He said nearly a week would be required to debate his opening proposal to bring the bill up for floor discussion.

In the House, Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) charged that the Senate is considering an erroneous copy of the House-approved bill. He proposed that the House recall it.

Smith charged that an amendment had been put in the wrong place in the official bill sent to the Senate. Speaker Sam Rayburn deferred a ruling on Smith's demand, but told reporters the error already had been corrected.

Russia Rejects West Proposal

LONDON — Russia today rejected the new Western proposal for a 10-month suspension of nuclear tests linked to halting atomic and hydrogen bomb production.

It was the first big Soviet "no" to the new American disarmament plan now being debated at the five-power London disarmament conference.

Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin told the disarmament conference there was no point to linking the test suspensions with nuclear bomb production, a proposal which is one of the West's basic demands.
